CHLOË SEVIGNY

Chloë can't mask her feelings for Kiehl's: The starlet recently created a limited-edition label for her fave product, the Rare Earth Deep Pore Cleansing Masque. Not only is it made from fair-trade Amazonian white clay, but 100 percent of the net proceeds also benefit Waterkeeper Alliance, a non-profit that protects and preserves waterways.

GREENER PASTURES

The Beekman Boys are back in town, with the second season of The Fabulous Beekman Boys (airing Tuesdays at 10PM on Planet Green), plus the launch of the latest Beekman 1802 product. Their eco-friendly Stick of Butter is a solid lotion made with pure goat milk, mango butter and a blend of essential oils. Fabulous, indeed!

PRETTY PEOPLE

GOSSIP Girls Kelly and Katie joined forces with Garnier to launch The Cleaner Greener Tour in NYC. Inspired by harsh facts — personal care and beauty products account for one-third of all landfill waste — the cosmetics company recently partnered with TerraCycle to launch Garnier Fructis Pure Clean. The biodegradable formulas are packaged in 50 percent postconsumer recycled plastics. Now, that's something to gossip about!
